SCHOOL AND COLLEGE LIAISON

STUDENT LIFE SESSIONS

There are many different perceptions about what it is like to study at university, so our student life sessions are offered to give your students a genuine insight into university life. Presented by current undergraduate students, these sessions answer all your questions from a student's perspective.

Our undergraduates will visit your school or college and talk to your students about what it is like to be a student at university. They talk openly about their experiences of university, as well as describing their route to higher education and their aspirations once they have graduated. Students will cover their overall university experience, offering more detail about their own subject area and planned career progression if desired.
